Accounts Audit Plan We are required to issue a detailed accounts audit plan to the Council setting out our proposed approach in order to give an opinion on the Council's 2015-16 financial statements.	March	Yes	Our audit plan was presented to the Audit Committee in March. Page 7 is an update to that plan highlighting that we now also consider that pensions is a significant risk. This does not reflect any particular new risks at Herefordshire but the national view that pensions are a significant risk area in local government accounts, due to the value and the number of subjective assumptions.
 Interim accounts audit Our interim fieldwork visit plan included: updated review of the Council's control environment updated understanding of financial systems review of Internal Audit reports on core financial systems early work on emerging accounting issues early substantive testing Value for Money conclusion risk assessment. 	January - February and April	Yes	Our interim audit work is complete. This included early audit testing to support a more efficient final accounts audit. We have routine meetings with the Finance Team to discuss emerging accounting issues and to discuss progress.
 Final accounts audit Including: audit of the 2015-16 financial statements proposed opinion on the Council's accounts proposed Value for Money conclusion review of the Council's disclosures in the consolidated accounts against the Code of Practice on Local Authority Accounting in the United Kingdom 2015/16 	June - July	Not started	We are aiming to complete our audit fieldwork by the end of July 2016 as part of the transition to the earlier closedown and audit cycle from 2018. We are working with the Finance Team to support improvements in accounts production efficiency and the project management of the audit visit.

Progress at June 2016

2015/16 work	Planned Date	Complete?	Comments
 Value for Money (VfM) conclusion The scope of our work has changed and is set out in the final guidance issued by the National Audit Office in November 2015. The Code requires auditors to satisfy themselves that; "the Council has made proper arrangements for securing economy, efficiency and effectiveness in its use of resources". The guidance confirmed the overall criterion as; "in all significant respects, the audited body had proper arrangements to ensure it took properly informed decisions and deployed resources to achieve planned and sustainable outcomes for taxpayers and local people". The three sub criteria for assessment to be able to give a conclusion overall are: Informed decision making Sustainable resource deployment Working with partners and other third parties 	March - July	On-going	We have considered the potential significant risks for our VfM conclusion and these are referred to in the audit plan presented to the March committee. We will carry out key document reviews and interviews to inform our conclusion.
Other areas of work Meetings with Members, Officers and others	On-going		 We are continuing to hold regular meetings with key officers of the Council. We ran a Better Care Fund workshop attended by staff from the Council and the CCG. We have subsequently reviewed the proposed accounting treatment. We gave a presentation of our CFO Insights system to the Council officers. We have had extensive discussion and review of the revisions to property plant and equipment.

Revision to the audit plan presented in March 2016

Significant risks identified (supplement to the Audit plan)

Significant risk	Description	Substantive audit procedures
Valuation of pension fund net liability		 We will identify the controls put in place by management to ensure that the pension fund liability is not materially misstated. We will also assess whether these controls were implemented as expected and whether they are sufficient to mitigate the risk of material misstatement. We will review the competence, expertise and objectivity of the actuary who carried out your pension fund valuation. We will gain an understanding of the basis on which the valuation is carried out.
		• We will undertake procedures to confirm the reasonableness of the actuarial assumptions made.
		• We will review the consistency of the pension fund asset and liability and disclosures in notes to the financial statements with the actuarial report from your actuary.

Better Together: Building a successful joint venture company

Local government is evolving as it looks for ways to protect front-line services. These changes are picking up pace as more councils introduce alternative delivery models to generate additional income and savings.

'Better together' is the next report in our series looking at alternative delivery models and focuses on the key areas to consider when deciding to set up a joint venture (JV), setting it up and making it successful.

JVs have been in use for many years in local government and remain a common means of delivering services differently. This report draws on our research across a range of JVs to provide inspiring ideas from those that have been a success and the lessons learnt from those that have encountered challenges. Key findings from the report:

- JVs continue to be a viable option Where they have been successful they have supported councils to improve service delivery, reduce costs, bring investment and expertise and generate income
- There is reason to be cautious Our research found a number of JVs between public and private bodies had mixed success in achieving outcomes for councils
- There is a new breed of JVs between public sector bodies – These JVs can be more successful at working and staying together. There are an increasing number being set up between councils and wholly-owned commercial subsidiaries that can provide both the commercialism required and the understanding of the public sector culture.

ALTERNATIVE SERVICE DELIVERY MODELS IN LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Partnership working in mental health Joining up the dots, not picking up the pieces

Mental ill health costs the economy over $\pounds 100$ billion each year and affects one in four people. However, responding to issues related to an underlying mental illness does not solely sit within the remit of health professionals. With many parts of the public sector needing to respond, and each facing significant financial pressures, collaboration around this issue is essential if savings are to be found and the best care provided.

This paper draws together examples of successful collaboration between public services and feedback from a Midlands round table discussion – where the West Midlands Combined Authority has set up a mental health commission – to look at how different services have overcome some of the traditional barriers and demarcation lines between organisations

There are four key messages:

The unpredictable nature of mental health symptoms can mean that the first point of contact is via emergency services, with ambulance, fire and rescue or police officers being present. The cost of services not being available at the right place at the right time can be huge, in terms of the personal suffering of individuals and costs to the wider system.

Often relatively modest amounts of money targeted at specific initiatives such as street triage or community cafes can make a huge difference in improving the availability of important services.

An impact can be made without the need for expensive structural change. Most importantly, it requires a genuine approach to collaboration and a culture of putting the patient first.

Investing in collaborative initiatives that focus on the needs of mental health patients were undoubtedly resulting in savings elsewhere to the public purse. Examples include:

•92% reduction in detentions under section 136 of the Mental Health Act in Cheshire and Wirral; 50% reduction in Birmingham and Solihull; 39% in Nottinghamshire; 30% in Kent

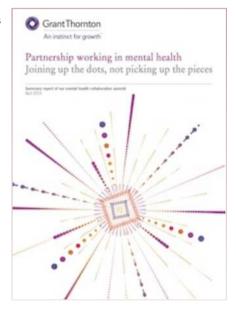

•647 A&E attendances avoided by one street triage team in one year in Birmingham and Solihull

•80% remission in psychosis through early intervention in Derbyshire

•25% of unemployed users of the café run by the Manchester Mind Young Adults Services and Projects team have gone on to find employment.

A set of recommendations on how to move this approach forward is also provided.
