TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I am writing to express our gratitude to Michael Hudson, Landlord of the Horse and Jockey, New Street, Ross-on-Wye.

We are a local charity, founded in 1966, operating an 'Action Bus' to transport the elderly, blind and disabled residents of Ross on various outings.

We have much to thank the Horse and Jockey for. Their generosity and support to our cause and fundraising has been heart warming. Their latest donation has been the prize money from the Ross Carnival, where they entered into and enjoyed being part of the community spirit.

Mr Hudson takes a great interest in our charity and constantly offers his support and help.

As close neighbours of the Horse & Tackery public house I can confirm that we have never once had cause for concern or complaint since Michael, the current manager (landlord), took over its running.

Previously there was frequently roughness and sometimes trouble, particularly at closing time. This must have been addressed and I think Michael deserves credit for this improvement.

He and his staff are always friendly and welcoming when we too infrequently visit. Michael also contributes to the community - I noticed his effort in the Ross carnival! Jim pleased as is my partner Sarah and other local residents that the Horse & Tackery seem better attended than in our memory but without any of the attendant problems under past ownership/management. The pub is a service to the locale, particularly in view of the high turnover of management in other local establishments and is a genuine asset as a trading concern and community hub.

We wish the current incumbents a long happy and prosperous tenure

Yours faithfully
