Decision made:	That notice under Section 154, Highways Act 1980, is served on the owner of land on which shrubs are growing adjacent to Staddlestone Circle, Hereford, and which are overhanging the footpath to an extent so as the obstruct the passage of pedestrians, such notice to require the owner to cut the shrubs so as to remove the obstruction within such time as specified in the notice.
Reasons for decision:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Shrubs growing on land adjacent to a section of footpath at Staddlestone Circle are overhanging the footpath to such an extent that the footpath is obstructed. • The Locality Steward has written to the owner/occupier of the premises on which the shrubs are growing requesting that they are cut so as to remove the obstruction, and the Enforcement Officer has left two messages which have not been returned. To date the shrubs have not been cut and the footpath remains obstructed. • Herefordshire Council (the highway authority) has a duty by virtue of Section 130 of the Highways Act 1980 to protect the rights of the public to the use and enjoyment of any highway and to prevent, as far as possible, the obstruction of the highway. • In line with the council's 'Overarching Enforcement and Prosecution Policy' the next incremental and proportionate enforcement action is to serve a statutory notice on the occupier requiring that the shrubs are cut so as to remove the obstruction.
Highlight any associated risks/finance/legal/equality considerations:	Risks – Non-compliance with requirements of notice. This would require further consideration of works in default of the notice and the recovery of costs which may require legal proceedings. Legal considerations – The authority to serve a notice on the occupier is contained in Section 154, Highways Act 1980. This section states that where a hedge, tree or shrub overhangs a highway so as to endanger or obstruct the

	passage of vehicles or pedestrians, the highway authority may by notice either to the owner of the hedge, tree or shrub or to the occupier of the land on which it is growing, require him so to lop or cut it so as to remove the cause of the danger, obstruction or interference. Herefordshire Council (the highway authority) has a duty by virtue of Section 130 of the Highways Act 1980 to protect the rights of the public to the use and enjoyment of any highway and to prevent, as far as possible, the obstruction of the highway.
Details of any alternative options considered and rejected:	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Take no further action. This option does not fulfil the council's duty under Section 130 Highways Act 1980 to protect the public's rights and prevent obstructions of the highway. It also means that the obstruction, and associated risk to pedestrians, remains. 2. The council could instruct BBLP to cut the shrubs without service of notice. Whilst this option resolves the issue more quickly, the risk is not assessed as requiring this, and it relieves the occupier of the land of responsibility. The recovery of costs from the occupier may also be less likely.

Details of any declarations of interest made:	None.
